

His Name Is Joe

It was the first week in November.

And the people of America voted for president.

People from small towns voted.

People from big cities voted.

People from the north and the south and the east and the west all voted.

Hundreds of people voted.

Thousands of people voted.

Hundreds of thousands of people voted.

Millions of people voted.

The people of America voted for president.

The people voted to elect a new president.

The people voted and they chose to elect a new president.

The new president was born in Pennsylvania.

He lives in Delaware.

He has a wife and children.

His name is Joe.

His name is Joe Biden.

Joe Biden is now America's new president.