

Too Much

My eyes were too big

And I just couldn't help myself

I know I should have stopped

But everybody brought something

And I ate a little bit of everything

And everything was so good

And I ate too much.

There was turkey and mashed potatoes

And there was cranberry sauce too

Pupusas and rice and beans and baskets of egg rolls

Everybody brought something

And I ate a little bit of everything

And everything was so good

And I ate too much.

And all the desserts that filled the table

Cookies and brownies and slices of cake

Apple pie, pecan pie and pumpkin pie

Everybody brought something

And I ate a little bit of everything

And everything was so good

And I ate too much.

There's only one thing to do

There's only one place to go

Straight to the couch for an afternoon nap.

Everybody brought something

And I ate a little bit of everything

And everything was so good

And I ate too much.
