Grammar Notes

CONJUNCTIONS: THREE TYPES

A. Coordinating Conjunctions

FORM

Coordinating conjunctions are very common in English. These conjunctions join two or more parts of speech (e.g., N + N), phrases (e.g., VO + VO), or clauses (e.g., SVO + SVO).

PURPOSE

Coordinating conjunctions are used in speaking and writing to add more detail. They can introduce a similar idea (and), opposite idea (but, yet), choice (or, nor), result (so), or reason (for).

Memory Trick

Use the word "FANBOYS" to make it easy to remember the seven coordinating conjunctions!

- F = for
- A = and
- N = nor
- B = but
- O = or
- Y = yet
- S = so

Coordinating Conjunction	Purpose	Notes	Example
and	addition	very common	She likes ham and pineapple on her pizza.
but	opposition	very common	He studies hard, but his brother doesn't care about school.
or	choice	very common	Will you wear the green jacket or the blue one?
	addition	common in negative sentences*	My sister doesn't like salt or pepper.
so	result	very common	I didn't finish my homework, so I'm not allowed to watch TV.
yet	opposition	not very common / more formal	Several reporters attended the press conference, yet no one asked any questions.
nor	choice	not very common / more formal / used in negative sentences	You didn't file the report, nor did you attend the meeting.
for	reason	not common at all / more poetic	The sky is dark, for the sun has set.

Punctuation Note:

What are the punctuation rules for coordinating conjunctions?

Don't use a comma when the conjunction separates two parts of speech or two phrases.

Use a comma when the conjunction separates two independent clauses (SVO + SVO). Note that some writers choose to drop the comma when the clauses are short or when the clauses have the same subject. When in doubt, use the comma!

- I like pizza and hamburgers. (N + N)
- Their house is big and red. (Adj + Adj)
- She usually goes to the gym and runs on the treadmill after class. (VO + VO)
- I like him(,) and he likes me. (SVO + SVO)
- Many people showed up late to the party, and we didn't have enough food for everyone. (SVO + SVO)

Grammar Notes cont.

Usage Note #1

Be careful! When joining two parts of speech or two phrases in negative sentences, the rule is to use or, not and. When joining two clauses (SVO + SVO), the normal rule with and applies.

- ✓ I like apples and oranges.
(correct, meaning "I like apples and I like oranges.")
- ✗ I don't like apples and oranges.
(incorrect)
- ✓ I don't like apples or oranges.
(correct, meaning "I don't like apples and I don't like oranges.")
- ✓ I don't like apples and I don't like oranges, either.
(correct, meaning "I don't like apples and I don't like oranges.")

Usage Note #2

There is an old rule that says "Never begin a sentence with a conjunction." While most people think this rule is old-fashioned and that it's fine to begin a sentence with a conjunction, it is still frowned upon by some. In formal writing and speaking, it is best to avoid starting a sentence with a coordinating conjunction. But in casual writing and speaking, it is acceptable to do so.

- I tried to get home on time. But when I arrived, they had already left.
- He applied to that school many times. And it's a good thing he did!

B. Correlative Conjunctions

FORM

Some conjunctions are used in pairs. They use parallel structure, which means that the same grammatical forms appear on each side of the conjunction. Correlative conjunctions can join two parts of speech (e.g., N + N), phrases (e.g., VO + VO), or clauses (e.g., SVO + SVO).

PURPOSE

The first part of the correlative conjunction pair is mainly used for emphasis. The emphasis is on “more than one” (both, not only) or on the choice (either, neither, whether). In some cases (both/and, either/or), the first part of the pair can be dropped from the sentence without affecting the meaning.

- ✓ I enjoy both skiing and snowboarding.
- ✓ I enjoy skiing and snowboarding.

Correlative Conjunction	Example
both / and	Both John and Bill are excellent tennis players.
not only / but also	She not only lost the game , but also hurt her ankle .
either / or	Either you register for the conference now or you lose out on this opportunity .
neither / nor	Neither the students nor the professor understood the problem.
whether / or	Whether you earn an A or get a lower grade , make sure you try your best.

Punctuation Note:

There is usually no need for a comma to separate correlative conjunction pairs. If the pair separates longer phrases or clauses, it's possible to use a comma.

- Not only Kentaro but also Hideki finished the test on time even though they're new in the class.
- Not only do we need a new fridge, but we also want to replace our dishwasher and microwave.

Grammar Notes cont.

C. Subordinating Conjunctions

FORM

A subordinating conjunction is a word or phrase at the beginning of a dependent clause (a sentence that cannot stand alone). Subordinating conjunctions join a dependent clause with an independent clause (a sentence that can stand alone).

PURPOSE

The purpose of subordinating conjunctions is to show time (before, when, whenever, while, etc.), opposition (although, though, even though, whereas, etc.), a reason (because, as, since, so that, etc.), or a condition (if, even if, unless, whether or not, etc.). A dependent clause that begins with a subordinating conjunction is known as an adverb clause or subordinate clause.

Subordinating Conjunction	Purpose	Example
after	time	After she graduated, she got a job as a lawyer.
although	opposition	I didn't wear a jacket although it was snowing.
because	reason	You failed the exam because you didn't study.
before	time	Don't forget to wash your hands before you eat.
even though	opposition	Even though they renovated their house, nobody wanted to buy it.
if	condition	If I have time, I will make cookies for the party.
since	reason	I couldn't ask him about the assignment since he never called me back.
unless	condition	Unless you know the answer, don't raise your hand in class.
until	time	We were texting each other until the exam started.
when	time	When you get to the park, meet me at the red bench.

C. Subordinating Conjunctions cont.

Punctuation Note:

The punctuation of a sentence with a subordinating conjunction depends on which clause comes first.

If the sentence begins with a dependent clause, it is usually followed by a comma. If an independent clause begins the sentence, it is almost never followed by a comma. Note that there is no difference in meaning in the examples below:

- After we left the theater, we went out for dinner.
- We went out for dinner after we left the theater.

D. Conjunction Review

How many conjunctions do you remember from the grammar notes?
Get into pairs or groups and write down as many conjunctions as you can until your teacher says "Stop!"

Exercise 1

COORDINATING CONJUNCTIONS: MULTIPLE-CHOICE

Circle the best answer.

Ex. She doesn't play the guitar well, _____ she's a great singer.

- a) and
- b) but
- c) so

1. I could go to the movies _____ stay home.
 - a) but
 - b) and
 - c) or
2. She has a sore throat _____ a headache.
 - a) and

 - a) but
 - b) so
 - c) or
10. She had three sweaters on, _____ she was still cold.
 - a) but
 - c) or
 - d) so

Exercise 2

COORDINATING CONJUNCTIONS: FILL IN THE BLANKS 1

Write and, but, or or in each blank.

Ex. I love going out to eat on weekends, and I also enjoy going to the movies.

1. Would you like water _____ lemonade with your meal?
2. Ji Woo works in a restaurant on weekends _____ during the week.
3. Fatima has a great job, _____ she is a very unhappy person.
4. I will go to Montreal _____ Toronto for the weekend. I'm not sure which yet.
5. The sun was shining brightly, _____ the picnic was still canceled.
6. Sonja doesn't like jazz _____ the blues. She prefers hip-hop and rap.
7. I am not going to the game, _____ I will watch it on TV.
8. Yuka has six brothers _____ eleven cousins.
9. I do not like pasta, _____ I do like pizza.
10. Pierre doesn't feel like cooking _____ cleaning tonight.

Exercise 3

COORDINATING CONJUNCTIONS: FILL IN THE BLANKS 2

Write so, yet, or nor in each blank.

Ex. He doesn't like reading. _____ Nor _____ does he like watching TV or playing video games.

1. The rain is very heavy, _____ the game will probably not be played.
2. Johann doesn't like chicken. _____ does he like pork or burgers.
3. Ena works hard, _____ she doesn't make a lot of money.
4. The sun is very strong, _____ Jacob still won't wear any sunscreen.
5. Our son really wants a new bicycle, _____ we will buy him one for his birthday.
6. The security lines are very long at the airport, _____ you should probably leave early for your flight.
7. Mateo does not come from Mexico. _____ is he from Belize. He is from Honduras.
8. Asha is an excellent violinist, _____ she will probably be chosen for the orchestra.
9. Bao is very tired, _____ he will still come with us to the movies.
10. Faiz loves San Francisco, _____ he is thinking of moving there.

Exercise 4

COORDINATING CONJUNCTIONS: SPEAKING

Take turns making sentences with the conjunction provided and a clause (SVO).

Ex. It was raining, but we went to the beach anyway.

Student A:

- It was raining, but...
- I didn't like the menu choices, so...
- It was warm outside, so...
- I finished my homework, and...
- Do you want to come over, or...

Student B:

- It was sunny, so...
- I liked the menu choices, and...
- It was cold outside, but...
- I didn't finish my homework, but..
- Do you want to call me, or...

Exercise 5

CORRELATIVE CONJUNCTIONS: FILL IN THE BLANKS 3

Insert one pair of correlative conjunctions in the blanks.
Use each pair only once.

Ex. Henrietta has _____ both _____ an MA _____ and _____ a PhD.
That's incredible.

1. _____ the professors _____ the students like the new building. No one is happy because the rooms are too small.
2. _____ you stay late _____ leave right now, I want to thank you for your help.
3. Vicky is taking _____ biology _____ chemistry. I was surprised to hear she was taking both classes.
4. I will take a trip to _____ Bermuda _____ St. Thomas next winter. I haven't decided yet.

Correlative Conjunctions:

- ~~both / and~~
- not only / but also
- either / or
- neither / nor
- whether / or

Exercise 6

CORRELATIVE CONJUNCTIONS: PAIR WORK

A. Speaking

With a partner, look at the charts and take turns making sentences about Omar and Pierre. Use both / and, not only / but also, neither / nor, and either / or.

Ex. Not only Omar but also Pierre likes watching sports on TV.*

Omar	Pierre
likes watching basketball on TV	likes watching hockey on TV
is really tall	is very tall
goes to college	goes to high school
doesn't have a girlfriend	isn't dating anyone
works out every day	goes to the gym after school could travel or stay home this summer	might travel or stay home this summer
doesn't like junk food	doesn't like unhealthy food
might go out or stay in tonight	could go out or stay in tonight

*Did You Know?

When connecting subject nouns with not only / but also, neither / nor, or either / or, the verb agreement comes from the second noun in the pair. With both / and, the subject nouns are always followed by a plural verb.

- Not only my parents but also my sister likes horror movies.
- Not only my sister but also my parents like horror movies.
- Neither the crackers nor the cheese tastes good.
- Neither the cheese nor the crackers taste good.
- Either my dogs or my cat makes a mess every day.
- Either my cat or my dogs make a mess every day.
- Both ice cream and cookies are popular desserts.
- Both cookies and ice cream are popular desserts.

Exercise 6 cont.

B. Writing

Using the information in Part A, write sentences using both / and, not only / but also, neither / nor, and either / or.

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____

Exercise 7

SUBORDINATING CONJUNCTIONS: MATCHUP

Match up a beginning on the left with an ending on the right to form a complete sentence.

- | | | |
|-------|---|--|
| j | 1. Since it was raining so hard, | a) until I fall asleep. |
| _____ | 2. Although Juan is a hard worker, | b) after I finish my homework. |

10	because	Everyone likes Hannah. She is patient and relaxed. _____ _____

Exercise 10

MIXED CONJUNCTIONS: WRITING

Choose one of the topics in the box. Write about the topic using at least 10 conjunctions you learned in this lesson. Try to use all three different types of conjunctions (coordinating, correlative, subordinating).

Ex. Last weekend, I made both eggs and pancakes for breakfast. After I ate them, I went to a friend’s house. We watched a movie, but it wasn’t very good...

- Topics
- what you did last weekend
 - your future goals
 - your family
 - your friends
 - your pet
 - your favorite movie
 - your own choice

Exercise 11

MIXED CONJUNCTIONS: QUIZ

Circle the correct answer.

- I want to marry Hee Jin, _____ she doesn't want to marry me.
 - but
 - and
 - or
- _____ Bian studied all night, she still got a C.
 - If
 - Unless
 - Although

LESSON DESCRIPTION:

In this lesson, students will learn about the different types of conjunctions (coordinating, correlative, and subordinating) and how they're used to join sentence elements. They will also learn to punctuate sentences with conjunctions. This lesson can easily be divided into three parts (to cover one type of conjunction at a time) or completed all at once for a comparison of conjunction types.

LEVEL: Int

TIME: 2-3 hours

TAGS: conjunctions, coordinating, correlative, subordinating, clauses, complex sentences, adverb clauses, and, but, or, so, yet, nor, for, grammar, grammar practice, grammar exercises

Grammar Notes

Before you begin, ask your students what the purpose of a conjunction is (i.e., to join two or more parts of speech or clauses). Ask your students to name as many conjunctions as they can think of.

Then review the grammar notes with your students on pages 2-7. You can choose to study only one type of conjunction (Part A, B, or C), or you may wish to review them all at once (Parts A-C).

In Part D, find out how much your students have retained by asking them to list the conjunctions they've just learned about. You could make this more challenging by setting a time limit of five minutes. See which pair or group can come up with the most conjunctions within the time limit.

- | | | | | |
|------|------|------|------|-------|
| 1. c | 3. c | 5. a | 7. c | 9. b |
| 2. a | 4. b | 6. b | 8. a | 10. a |

Exercise 2

| 1. so | 3. yet | 5. so | 7. Nor | 9. yet |
| 2. Nor | 4. yet | 6. so | 8. so | 10. so |

Exercise 4

Answers will vary. As a follow-up, challenge your students to join parts of speech instead of clauses where possible. (E.g., It was raining but warm. / Do you want to call or text me?)

- | | |
|-----------------|-----------------------|
| 1. Neither, nor | 3. not only, but also |
| 2. Whether, or | 4. either, or |

Answer Key cont.

Exercise 6

Answers will vary. Monitor students for correct sentence formation using correlative conjunctions. Here are some suggested answers:

- Both Omar and Pierre are really tall.
- Not only Omar but also Pierre goes to school.
- Neither Omar nor Pierre is dating anyone.
- Both Omar and Pierre work out.
- Omar and Pierre could either travel or stay home this summer.
- Neither Omar nor Pierre likes junk food.
- Omar and Pierre could either go out or stay in tonight.

| 2. f | 4. i | 6. h | 8. a | 10. b |

Exercise 8

Answers will vary. Monitor your students for correct sentence formation, and make sure their answers reflect an understanding of the meaning of the subordinating conjunction.

Exercise 9

Answers may vary.

1. When I drove to work, I sang in my car.
2. Although John is only eight years old, he can play the piano very well.
3. Alma ate not only the chicken and rice, but also two hamburgers. / Not only did Alma eat the chicken and rice, but she also ate two hamburgers.
4. Ned is the manager of the bank, yet he doesn't make a high salary.
5. After Gino ate breakfast, he washed the dishes.
6. Barbara arrived home at eight and called her sister.
7. Bill worked until 9:00 pm.
8. I'll invite neither Marie nor Luc to my party.
9. Even though Hal studied a lot, he still got a very low grade.
10. Everyone likes Hannah because she is patient and relaxed.

Exercise 10

Answers will vary. Encourage your students to use all three types of conjunctions. Monitor your students for correct conjunction use.

Exercise 11

Use this task for review or assessment.

SPELLING NOTE:

This lesson shows the American spelling of the words Canceled, Favorite, and Theater. Most other English-speaking countries spell these words this way: Cancelled, Favourite, and Theatre. Make it a challenge for your students to find these words in the lesson and see if they know the alternate spellings.
